

General information about the scholarships

- All students that are selected to participate in the Mexican-German Master Programme ENREM will be granted a scholarship of CONACyT and DAAD
- Students will receive two scholarship contracts, one of each scholarship donor agency. Each contract only mentions the benefits of the respective donor.
- DAAD Scholarship:
 - o DAAD scholarship contract usually will be signed prior to arrival in San Luis Potosí, given that the scholarship holder accepts the scholarship regulations by signing the letter of acceptance. In the scholarship contract all benefits for the respective student are listed.
 - o For German students the money transfer will be done to their German bank account by DAAD in Germany. Mexican and Latin American students have to open a bank account in Mexico at Banco Santander and will receive their payments from DAAD Mexico on this account.
- CONACyT scholarship:
 - o To become official CONACyT scholarship holder students have to register online at CONACyT webpage. The course coordination in San Luis Potosí will assist the students in that process. To register, the student visa (FM3 visa) is a precondition for Latin American and German students. As application for FM3 might be a time-consuming process the payment of the first installment might be delayed.
 - o All students have to open a bank account at Bancomer exclusively for transfer of CONACyT scholarship installments.
- To bridge the time gap between arrival in San Luis Potosí and the first money transfer students are requested to take sufficient money with them.
- Depending on the countries of origin the scholarship benefits differ, the respective details can be seen in the tables below.
- As scholarship holders students are excluded from paying study fees at Cologne university of Applied Sciences; nevertheless the semester fees have to be paid at both universities as students are inscribed at both universities to obtain the double degree.

The following three tables show the scholarship benefits of CONACyT and DAAD as well as the costs that have to be covered by the student. Please note that usually the monthly scholarships of the donor agencies as well as the subsidies are enough to cover the respective costs. In case the real costs are higher (e.g. due to a late flight booking) the difference has to be covered by the student.

Please take care to have a look at the right chart as there are differences between the scholarships for Germans, Mexicans and students from other Latin American countries.
